Prof. A. W. Kerr Dies in Pittsburg.

A telegraphic dispatch was sent to Mrs D. B. Spagnoli on Tuesday morning from her sister in Pittsburg, Mrs Dr. R. M. Sands, that her father, A. W. Kerr died there on Monday last. The sad news came as a surprise, as Mrs Spagnoli had as late as last Saturday received a letter in his own handwriting stating that he was enjoying his customary good health.

Deceased was 83 years of age. For many years he occupied a prominent position as a school teacher in this county and a member of the county board of education. He was a resident of Jackson until about sixteen years ago, when he went to Pittsburg to make his home with his daughter there, and has lived there ever since. He was a native of Pennsylvania. He was a candidate on the republican ticket for superintendent of schools in 1872. At that time Amador was strongly democratic, and he was defeated with the balance of the ticket. He was thereafter appointed a member of the board of education, and filled that position with ability and credit. He was a man of high character, strictly conscientious in all his actions—an upright citizen in every sense of the term. His wife died many years ago, and her remains were interred at Elk Grove. He leaves the two married daughters above named to mourn his departure, and two grandchildren, Roma and Ernest Spagnoli, of this city.

The body was interred at Pittsburg, his native town, where several relatives are buried.

Sutter Creek Bank Affairs.

The people vs. Sutter Creek State Bank et al. In this case the court on Oct 8 made the following order.

The petition of C. H. McKenney, receiver of the said Sutter Creek State Bank, a corporation, coming on regularly to be heard this day, and said receiver having been sworn and examined in open court relative to the affairs of said bank and having testified as to the value of the services rendered up to this time by himself and his attorneys, and it appearing that said receiver on or about the 10th day of March, 1909, received, from Frederick Eudey, the former receiver of said bank, the sum of $11,522.71 and has collected from the assets of said bank the further sum of $8,394.22, making in all the sum of $19,916.93 which has come into his possession as such receiver; that his disbursements have amounted to the sum of $10,006.93, and that the amount of 9,910, is now remaining on hand; that said receiver has paid depositors of said bank a dividend of 10 per cent on their claims against said bank, and has this day obtained an order of court authorizing him to pay a second dividend to depositors amounting to 10 per cent of their claims; and it appearing that said receiver and his attorneys have rendered valuable services herein and having this day in said petition, requested the court to make him an allowance, on account thereof, both for himself and his counsel, and good cause appearing at this time why such an allowance should be made:

It is therefore ordered that said C. H. McKenney said receiver of said Sutter Creek State Bank, be and he is hereby allowed the sum of three hundred dollars on account of his compensation as receiver of said Sutter Creek State Bank, and he is allowed the further sum of two hundred dollars for and on account of the services of his attorney, Robert C. Bole.

Surprised the Gossips

Ernest Lucas and Miss Rachel Phillips came to Jackson from Lone last Monday for a marriage license. Their intentions were known to a few friends that they were to be married last Wednesday. For several days before they were subject to joshes and jokes from their friends and acquaintances, and had no other intention while here except to procure the license. They called on Mrs James Harris, who is a relative of the groom, and she suggested that they even up matters by getting married at once, and thus give their friends a surprise party. They finally consented to this program. They were married the same day by Father Kearney and left for Jackson Valley, going to their respective homes. So when Wednesday arrived they had the pleasure of telling their friends how they had been outwitted. They will make their home on the Moore ranch in Jackson Valley.

MILTON DAVIS WANTED.

Milton Davis and his brother will learn something to their advantage by communicating with Mrs W. S. Davis, East Auburn, California. The Davis boys are supposed to be mining somewhere in Amador county. Their friends will kindly call their attention to the above.

GARIBALDI-GRILLO GRAVEL MINE CASE

An Injunction Prayed for Pending Further Proceedings

The litigation between Frank Garibaldi and Frank Devencenzi on the one side and the Grillo Brothers on the other, involving the right of possession to the valuable Santirfo gravel claim in Volcano, is still a long way from being ended. At the trial of the suit the testimony was such that the court held that neither of the contestants was entitled to a judgment. This week the case entered upon a new phase by the filing on the part of the plaintiffs of the following affidavit for an injunction:

Frank Garibaldi and Frank Devencenzi, plaintiffs, vs. John B. Grillo, James Grillo, Sr., and August Grillo, defendants.

Frank Garibaldi and Frank Devencenzi being first duly sworn, depose and say, that they are the plaintiffs in the above-entitled action; that the land in dispute in said action is public mineral, gold-bearing, placer mining ground, situate in the Volcano mining district, Amador county California, particularly described as follows: The east half of west half of southwest quarter of northeast quarter, and the west half of the east half of the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 22, township 7 north, range 12 east, M. D. B. and M., containing 20 acres; that the above entitled action has been brought on for trial heretofore in the above entitled court, submitted for decision to the hon. judge of this court, who rendered his opinion in writing that neither plaintiffs nor defendants are entitled to any relief in this action, giving as his reason for denying relief to plaintiffs that the evidence failed to show a valid discovery of gold by them; an also giving as one of the reasons of denying relief to defendants, that they had made no valid discovery of gold within the limits of disputed territory until after the filing of their cross complaint.

Affiants allege that no judgment has been entered in the above entitled action, but that there will be delay in entering judgment in such action; that it is the purpose of plaintiff, in good faith, to move for a new trial herein, and if necessary to prosecute this action to a final determination even to the highest courts having jurisdiction of same; that affiants believe that the necessary proof was made at such trial on the part of plaintiffs regarding discovery of gold bearing minerals within the limits of said disputed territory; but that a failure of the court reporter to get complete records of testimony has resulted in said testimony not being in the record herein. Affiants allege that notwithstanding the decision of the court that neither plaintiffs nor defendants are entitled to any relief in this action, the defendants have entered into said disputed ground, and are actively engaged in removing gold bearing gravel from said land and beneath the surface of land in controversy; that they are running gravel taken therefrom through a mill and extracting the minerals therefrom; that they are now engaged in running said mill daily, whereas it was formerly their practice to only run said mill every ten days or two weeks; that said defendants are extracting from said mine and converting to their own use gold bearing gravel of great value, the exact value of which is not now known to affiants, and plaintiffs have no security against loss in case they should prevail in this action; that defendants are working said mine on shares with some of the parties working therein; that said defendants, their agents, employees and associates threaten to continue to work said claim and to remove the gold therefrom, and to appropriate the same to their own use, and if not restrained by injunction from this honorable court will so continue to work said claim, and to extract the gold bearing rock therefrom and to convert the same to their own use, thus rendering said claim valueless to plaintiffs, or greatly reducing its value in case they should finally prevail; if not soon prevented from continuing said mining operations said mine will be in a great measure exhausted.

That the injury to the plaintiffs will be material, certain and great, as well as irreparable if the relief prayed for is denied, should they in the end prevail; while the granting of an injunction pendente lite will make the loss to the defendants comparatively small should they win in the final outcome of the case, as all values in the claim in dispute are conserved and protected by injunction process during the continuance of the litigation.

That the force at work in the disputed claim has been greatly augmented, as affiants are informed and believe, since said decision, and work is proceeding in both directions from the tunnel run in said claim. That as the gravel, as affiants are informed and believe, is greatly increasing in value, affiants fear and believe that it is the purpose of the defendants, unless restrained, to work out the claim during the pendency of the action, and boasts and threats to this effect, affiants are informed and believe, have been made by said defendants.

That continuous work for a period of two or three months with a force of men defendants now have and are able to put to work on the disputed claim can and will entirely work out the body of pay gravel found in the said claim.

That it will take this time, or nearly that, as affiants are informed by their counsel, before the questions involved in their behalf can be presented to the court either in a motion for a different and another judgment other than that rendered herein, or in a motion for a new trial, or in other proceedings necessary to present plaintiffs' contention to the court and preserve their rights. Wherefore affiants pray that an order be made in the premises requiring the defendants, their counselors, attorneys, agents and others acting in aid or assistance of them, and all of them, and each of them, to appear at the time and place to be fixed by this honorable court, to show cause why an injunction should not be issued restraining them from extracting or removing gold bearing or any rock, earth or gravel, from said mining claim, or any part thereof, or from doing anything whatever in and about said land in dispute, with the exception of such timbering as may be necessary, and that in the meantime said parties, and each and all of them, be restrained from in any manner interfering with said claim, and that such order be made as is meet in the premises.

Frank Garibaldi
Frank Devencenzi

On this showing the court made an order requiring the defendants to appear in the court room on the 19th day of October, 1909, to show cause why they should not be restrained from working said mining claim.

Send Ore Specimens.

Richard Russell Smith, assayer of Stockton, was in Jackson Wednesday in the interest of the Rush of '49 celebration to take place in that city commencing on the 26th of this month. He is traveling through the mining counties to secure an exhibit of gold ore, specimens from the mines, and other mineral exhibits. These can be sent to the nearest railroad depot, and will be transported to Stockton free of charge to the shipper. It is intended to have a fine display of mineral products, showing that while the rush of '49 has subsided, the output of gold continues in large volume. Amador ought to make a creditable showing in this line, and certainly will do so if the mine owners will exert themselves to that end.

For Chronic Diarrhoea

"While in the army in 1893 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief, until Mr. A. W. Miles, of this place, persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by Jackson Drug Store, Spagnoli, prop.

Other Things Needed Worse

Like most ministers' families, they were not extensively blessed with this world's goods. She, however, was the youngest of ten children until her father explained to her of the baby sister who had come in the night. "Well," she said, after due thought. "I s'pose it's all right, papa, but there's many a thing we needed worse."

Frightful Fate Averted

"I would have been a cripple for life, from a terrible cut on my knee cap," writes Frank Disberry, Kellier, Minn. without Bucklen's Arnica salve, which soon cured me. Infallible for wounds, cuts, bruises, it soon cures burn, scalds, old sores, boils, skin eruptions. World's best for Piles. 55c at Spagnoli Drug Store.

Last week in Paloma, two boys, Freddy and Marvin Schwoerer, aged respectively 13 and 11 years, succeeded in killing two big rattlesnakes, with no other weapon than hay forks. The boys discovered the snakes while hunting cattle, and went half a mile to their homes after the forks and then returned to give battle. One of the snakes had 15 rattles and a button and the other 12 rattles with the same addition.—Prospect.

C. W. Getchell, proprietor of the Prospect, met with a bad fall, while in Angels a week ago Sunday. He fell a distance of several feet, striking on his right shoulder and side of his head. He paid but little attention to the matter at first, but the shoulder has been growing worse, and an examination by Dr. Holland shows a serious injury to the shoulder socket. He has the arm in a sling, and will be laid up for some time.—Prospect.

We are informed that the defalcations of county money by Justice C. E. Scott amount to $130. Yesterday morning he paid the money to Auditor J. B. Doyle and filed with that officer his resignation of justice of the peace of the first township. A special session of the Board of supervisors, probably Monday, will be required to accept the papers and appoint a successor. J. W. Purdy will have a petition for the position.—Banner.

At noon Sunday a quiet wedding took place in the parlors of the Western hotel in this city, Henry Stark and Miss Laura M. Schance of El Dorado being the contracting parties. The young couple were accompanied by Mr and Mrs Wm. Buys of El Dorado and a number of relatives and friends of this city were also present. Mr and Mrs Stark will make their home in this county near El Dorado, and they have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.—Nugget.

Legends of the Chinese Walls.

Before resuming our journey I asked the governor of the inn about the Long Wall. He made answer thus:

"Chin Shih Hwang without doctrine compelled the people to build it. He walked his horse and examined the boundary. Afterward there was the husband of the Meng Chiang woman. Because he was building the wall he was compelled to die in it. The Meng Chiang woman, weeping for her husband, moved heaven and earth. The 10,000 li long wall, with one cry, was wept down."

In this village, untouched by civilization, ignorant of the camera, where a photograph of a beautiful young lady affrighted the beholders, many interesting legends about the wall were gathered. In brief some of them are as follows: Chin, borne triumphantly across the empire on his horse of cloud, stamped thrice every li, and on each crushed spot sprang up a tower. Chin was a broken, bad man. The wall was erected in one day, being 80,000 li long. It was ruined when one woman gave a scream, and it collapsed from the sea to Tibet. There were eighteen suns when Chin built; the men were kept working so long that grass had time to grow in the dust which lodged on their heads. The men worked so long that they fell asleep and woke up patriarchs. Chin had mammoth shovels that threw up a li of wall at a scoop; the men were 12 feet tall and broad in proportion; nowadays men are small and could not build the wall. A god looked down from heaven and saw the people being thrown into the wall for not doing the work, so he came down and gave a threat to the workmen, who put it round their wrists to increase strength. When the king found out he took this magic thread and plaited it into a lash for a whip. With the magic whip he could remove mountains or make the Yellow River stop. Not far away we halted at a hamlet of four houses, known as the Water Cave Ravine.

Here again we gathered a choice collection of local legends, showing many variants on a few themes of cruelty, love and magic. One is that the line of the wall was marked out not by Chin, but by Chin's white magic horse. A saddle was tied to its tail and it was allowed to wander freely. Whither it strayed the architect followed and pegged out the line for the builders. And to this day stand the abandoned forty li of wall to prove the story.—From Harper's Magazine.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

We have this week carefully revised our subscription list, giving credit on the printed address. The papers show the date up to which the subscriber has paid. Since the Ledger's subscription contest closed, we have not had time before to check up the list, and owing to the great increase in the subscription list it was impracticable to follow our usual course of acknowledging through these columns every subscription received. It is possible that some oversights have been made in making corrections. Eat What

You want of the food you need

Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

THE MODERN BANK

Without the modern bank there would be no safe deposit boxes for money, no strong vaults and automatic locks, no way to disburse money in payment of accounts except by cash, no chance to mail drafts or checks, no circulating medium, and the efficiency of money would be reduced ninety per cent. Shut out banks and industries would languish and commerce cease. And all this would result if everyone was afraid to trust the banks. Even the miser is the beneficiary of the prosperity created by modern business methods. Are you among the misers or among the business promoters?

Accidentally Shot and Killed While Hunting

Mrs Gerry, accompanied by Mrs White, left here early this week on account of the sad news that Will Cole, a brother of Mrs Gerry, had been accidentally shot by his companion while out hunting near Grass Valley, Nevada county. The young man died in about four hours after receiving the injuries. Mrs White returned Wednesday evening, but Mrs Gerry remained until after the funeral, which was held Wednesday afternoon, and to comfort her widowed mother, who is distracted by this terrible affliction. The Nevada Transcript of Tuesday gives the following account of this fatal shooting.

The lads started out early in the morning, Cole going without breakfast so as not to miss the good shooting of the early hours. They hunted along slowly and about 10 o'clock found themselves on the old McKeon place on the old Nevada road, adjoining the Hughes ranch. Soon after 10 o'clock the dog scared up a jackrabbit and both started after it. While Cole was ahead and stepped behind a bush to get out of the view of the rabbit. As the animal ran along Coffey espied it and drew his gun up quickly and shot. As he did so Cole stepped out from behind the bush and received the charge from the barrel of Coffey's gun. Cole cried out he had been shot and Coffey ran quickly to his side. The latter saw at once that the shot had torn an ugly wound in Cole's clothing and the blood was running from the wound inflicted. There was no help within a mile or more and the gritty little hunter, although he had received his death blow, gamely walked half a mile towards assistance, and would have gone further had he not dropped in sheer exhaustion from loss of blood. Coffey tried to carry him but was obliged to abandon the idea. He then made Cole as comfortable as possible and ran for assistance, first to the Hughes place, then to the Simmons ranch and later to the Morgan ranch, where Ed and Fred Morgan were found. They drove quickly to where the injured boy was lying and although it was half an hour or longer since he had been left alone he was still conscious and cheerful.

It was 10:30 a. m. when the accident occurred and almost two hours elapsed before he was taken to his home. Soon after 2 o'clock in the afternoon he passed quietly away. Coroner Gill was summoned and ordered that an autopsy be held to determine the exact cause of death. Dr. Carl P. Jones opened the boy and found that the shot had spread after entering and the little leaden pellets were found in almost every organ. The liver, the spleen, the intestines and other organs were perforated, and even in the heart one bullet was found. The shot in entering the body tore a hole in the flesh about four to six inches in diameter, indicating that the lads were not far apart when the shooting occurred.

He was 18 years of age and was learning to become a cigar-maker. He had served more than three years of apprenticeship and would have been in a position to work as a journeyman next January. He was just able to assist his widowed mother, who has had her share of trouble in this world. She is beside herself with grief and feels that this latest loss is really more than she can bear. Her boy was more than anything else in the world to her and she can hardly reconcile herself to his sudden taking off. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon.

Numbering Houses.

The city trustees last evening finally passed an ordinance requiring the numbering of all houses within the city limits. We know not who is the real sponsor of this delectable piece of local legislation. W. M. Penry introduced it. It is safe to say neither he nor others concerned realized the full meaning of the proposition. It is a simply a waste of public and private money, if ever enforced, which is very doubtful. It is a leap-before-you-look proposition like the fool library ordinance which was so enthusiastically passed a couple of years ago. Fancy, there are not outside of Main street fifty dwelling houses on any street in Jackson, and the city fathers assume that to fix the locality of a resident as is necessary to stick up a number, a la city fashion. How long oh, lord, such tomfoolery.

Lumber Yard Closed

The Whitmore lumber yard in Jackson was closed Wednesday last. No more lumber will be sold from this yard for the present. This action was taken for the purpose of facilitating the winding up of the Whitmore estate, which has been in the probate court for nearly three years. Geo. Kikwood, who has been in charge of the yard, will now devote his time to collecting the debts, thus paving the way for terminating the proceedings in court. Arrangements will no doubt be made by the Amador Lumber Co. to supply this city with lumber.

Money Comes In Bunches

to A. A. Chisholm, of Treadwell, N. Y., now. His reason is well worth reading: "For a long time I suffered from indigestion, torpid liver, constipation, nervousness, and general debility," he writes. "I couldn't sleep, had no appetite, nor ambition, grew weaker every day in spite of all medical treatment. Then used Electric Bitters. Twelve bottles restored all my old-time health and vigor. Now I can attend to business every day. It's a wonderful medicine." Infalible for stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and nerves. 50c at Spagnoli Drug Store

The Whitmore Estate

John F Davis, W R Webster and Vic Chichizola went to Antelope Sunday last, returning the same day. As the final proceedings to wind up the Whitmore estate are about to be presented to the superior court, it is believed that the object of the trip was to look over the timber lands of the estate with the probability that the Chichizola Estate Company will bid for the same when the proper time arrives and absorb them entirely, thereby adding nearly 1000 acres to its present holdings. The court proceedings are almost at an end.

Most of the mountain property consists of timber land, some of it virgin forest, bought years ago and upon which the mill has made but small inroads. From the fact that the Chichizola company owns a large tract adjacent to the Whitmore holdings, it is not at all likely that any other purchaser will be likely to enter this field.

The improvements are assessed at $3,000, and the land at $4,045. This land and the lot upon which is located the lumber yard at Jackson, comprise the bulk of the estate.

Small Irrigated Farm

Louis Miller, who about two months ago left this county for Livingstone, a new settlement in the irrigation district of Merced county, came up from that section this week to look after his ranch property above Volcano. He will return to Merced county in a few days. In partnership with Sam Lessley, also for many years a resident of the Volcano section, he has branched out into the butcher business in Livingstone, and speaks very enthusiastically as to the outlook. The big ranches have been cut up into ten and twenty acre lots, and colonists are flocking from the east to settle upon these small farms. With irrigation rights running with the land at a cost of $1 per acre annually, the settlers are doing well, and the population is rapidly increasing. The land is no better than that of the foothills of this county. With irrigation facilities, which might be secured without great expense, the same results would flow from intensified farming of small tracts here. It must come to this eventually, if Amador is ever to take a step onward in the direction of agricultural development.

Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

The regular quarterly meeting of the recently organized chamber of commerce of Amador county was announced to be held last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the superior court room. As this was the first general meeting since the organization of the chamber, it was expected that there would be a fair turn out of members. When the appointed time came, however, only seven or eight were present. It required fifteen to make a quorum. So no business of any kind was transacted. After some informal talk by the few present the meeting adjourned without date.

The directors have done little of practical value during the quarter toward furthering the objects of the association. They are hampered by the lack of funds. The amount in the treasury is a little over $100. The second quarter's dues of $1 is now payable, and members will facilitate matters by paying the same promptly. It was suggested to pay some one a commission to collect the dues, and solicit new members. This course is likely to be adopted.

Tickling in the Throat

"Just a little tickling in the throat!" Is that what troubles you? But it hangs on! Can't get rid of it! Home remedies don't take hold. You need something stronger—a regular medicine, a doctor's medicine. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral contains healing, quieting, and soothing properties of the highest order. Ask your doctor about this. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation positively prevents good health. Then why allow it to continue? An active liver is a great preventive of disease. Ayer's Pills are liver pills. What does your doctor say?

CRUSHED TO DEATH IN HAY PRESS.

John Podesta Loses his Life In Singular Manner.

A shocking accident occurred in Jackson Valley on Tuesday last John Podesta, a Jackson boy, aged about fifteen years, being the victim. He was working with a hay baling crew on the ranch of C. C. Prouty in Jackson Valley. The baling machine was of the old pattern, the pressure coming from a weight from above. In the afternoon young Podesta was sent into the press to clean it out, a process which becomes necessary at intervals to keep the machine in good working order. The animals attached to the press were trained at the business, starting up of their own accord at the proper time. While the boy was inside the press, the horses started up, which set the ponderous weight in motion. There was no possibility of escape for the unfortunate victim inside. The weight, estimated at over 300 lbs, came down upon, crushing him in a frightful manner. The fellow workmen were powerless to avert the awful accident, although fully realizing what the starting of the animals meant. Podesta's mangled frame was taken out as soon as possible. Both legs were broken, and he was terribly crushed otherwise. He lived two hours after the accident. Deceased is the youngest of a family of nine children. His father is an old settler of Jackson, but at present living in San Francisco. His mother died some years ago. He also leaves four brothers and four sisters to deplore his tragic and untimely end.

The remains were brought to Jackson and the funeral is set for this afternoon; interment in the Catholic cemetery, Rev. Father Kearney officiating. All the members of the family came up from the city Wednesday evening, to attend the funeral.

The county clerk issued marriage licenses on the 11th instant as follows:

Ernest Lucas a native of California, aged 23, residing at Lancha Plana, and Rachel Phillips, a native of California, aged 21, and residing at lone.

Visit of N. D. G. W.

Grand President.

Mrs Emma Lillie, grand president of the Native Daughters, made an official visit to Ursula Parlor of Jackson on Tuesday last. The members of the local lodge made elaborate preparations for her welcome. Besides the lodge members, there were visitors from Sutter Creek, Volcano and Mokelumne Hill parlors present; also Ida Belle Schwartz from Nevada City. In all between 50 and 60 members were present to greet the grand officer. After the official ceremonies, a short literary program furnished entertainment. This was followed by a supper, accompanied by toasts, Mrs Hurst being toast mistress. The following toasts were given. "Our pioneer mothers," Mrs Alice Jones; "California," Mrs Nellie Fontenrose; "Our order," Grand President Mrs Lillie; "Our Grand President," Miss Emma Boardman; "Our flag," Mrs C. M. Garbarini.

Boshaw Divorce Case.

The divorce case of Levi A Boshaw against Martha Boshaw came up in the superior court last Saturday morning. The plaintiff has resided in Plymouth for many years and formerly kept a small store at the lower end of Main street. At present he is engaged in freighting between Latrobe and Plymouth. The defendant was not in court nor was she represented by an attorney. The testimony went to prove that Boshaw was the victim of many indignities and abuses. She had struck him on the head, neck and in the mouth on different occasions and had called him an old dog, "an old hog" and used language that belonged only on the street, all for no apparent reasons.

When Mrs Boshaw was about to leave home for the last time she said to him: "Levi I am going away, and I want you to kiss me good-bye," which request was complied with. In telling the court of the incident he did so in such a sympathetic manner that all present were convinced of his sincerity in giving his testimony.

Boshaw has been a much married man. His attorney, stated that the last wife was the fourth or fifth. None of the late ones remained for any great length of time. He has some grown up daughters by a former wife who reside with their father. The last one lives at Oleta it is said. The court granted an interlocutory decree of divorce as prayed for.

Government Forests of Prussia Well Managed.

Prussia has national forests, covering nearly 7,000,000 acres which are made up much as if the pineries of the Southern states of this country and the forests of some of the middle Atlantic and Central states were combined. When forestry was begun by Prussia, a great part of the timber land had been injured by mismanagement, much as American forests have been, and the Prussian foresters had to solve the problem of improving the run down forests out of the returns from those which were still in good condition. They solved it with striking success. Immense improvement has already taken place and is steadily going on. The method of management adopted calls for a sustained yield—that is, no more wood is cut than the forest produces. Under this management the growth of the forest, and consequently the amount cut, has risen sharply. In 1830 the yield was twenty cubic feet per acre; in 1856, twenty-four cubic feet; in 1890, fifty-two cubic feet, and in 1904, sixty-five cubic feet. In other words Prussian forest management has multiplied the rate of production threefold in seventy five years. And the quality of the product has improved with the quantity. Between 1830 and 1904 the percentage of saw timber rose from nineteen per cent to fifty-four per cent. It is a striking fact in this connection that in the United States at the present time the people use about three times as much timber as the forests grow. If we were everywhere practicing forestry with a resulting improvement equal to that made in Prussia, the forests of this country would be growing as much as we use.

The financial returns in Prussia make an even better showing. Net returns per acre in 1850 were twenty-eight cents. In 1865 they were seventy-two cents; in 1900, $1.58; and in 1904, $2.50. They are now nearly ten times what they were sixty years ago, and they are increasing more rapidly than ever. These results have been obtained in Prussia along with almost ideal technical success. Then what is wanted is a sustained yield from the forest year by year in the long run, it is clearly necessary to have always a certain number of trees ready to be cut; there must be a proper proportion of trees of all ages. This percentage has been secured and maintained with almost mathematical accuracy.

The Bed-Rock Of Success

Lies in a keen clear brain, backed by indomitable will and resistless energy. Such power comes from the splendid health that Dr. King's New Life Pills impart. They vitalize every organ and build up brain and body. J. A. Harmon, Lizemore, W. Va., writes: "They are the best pills I ever used." 25c at Spagnoli Drug Store.

The World's Timber

Prof. Somerville's paper before the British Association on the timber supply shows that the world is steadily approaching a timber famine. Already Britain pays each year 27,000,000 sterling for wood; Germany, with nearly twelve times the area of forest possessed by Britain, annually pays 12,000,000 sterling for imported timber, and although the United States of America exports wood and wood products to the value of 20,000,000 sterling per annum, she has to pay as much for imports. In Europe, Sweden and Russia are, of course, the chief timber-exporting countries, but in both cases the vast inroads on supplies is seriously felt, and exports are being appreciably reduced. There are, of course, Canada and Siberia, but in Canada, at all events, wood is being used up at a rapid rate.

Strength of Human Hair

A human hair of average thickness can support a load of 6½ ounces, and the average number of hairs on the head is about 30,000. A woman's long hair has a total tensile strength of more than five tons, and this strength can be increased one-third by twisting the hair. The ancients made practical use of the strength of human hair. The cords of the Roman catapults were made of the hair of slaves, and it is recorded that the free women of Cathage offered their luxuriant tresses for the same use when their city was besieged by the Romans.

A Bit Too Hasty

"I tell you I won't have this room," protested the old lady to the bell-boy who was conducting her. "I ain't agoin' to pay my good money for a pigsty, with a measly little foldin' bed in it. If you think that jest because I'm from the country—" Profoundly disgusted, the boy cut her short. "Git in, mum. Git in," he ordered. "This ain't your room. This is the elevator."—Everybody's Magazine.

MINUTE WHALES.

A Million and a Half Could Rest on the Head of a Pin.

The completest and most perfect of whales is a whale so small that 1,500,000 such whales could find room in a space not larger than an ordinary pin's head. But in that vanishing speck of matter there is already determined just how all the innumerable cells of the future whale's body are to grow, how many of them are to be and where the bone cells, the muscle cells, the nerve cells and all its other bodily cells are to find their proper places in his body to the end of that whale's life. But much more than that. In that one primordial cell, scarcely imaginable for its minuteness, are stored the physical memories, so to speak, of that whale's ancestors back to the first whale. Therefore as he grows he will show that whales used to walk, for legs complete to the last leg bone will be found in the adult whale in the proper place for legs, but now tucked under his skin because they are no longer usable, much as an English nobleman hangs in his hall his ancestors' coats of mail as mementos of days now gone by since the coming of rifle bullets.

Moreover, such a minute whale is nothing but a whale, because he cannot possibly grow into a fish any more than he can grow into a bird, for whales are mammals and therefore separated by an impassable biological gulf from all fishes. Lastly, in that primal cell not only does there reside the whole ancestral heritage of former whales, but there is ample provision for an indefinite number of future whales.—Dr. William Hanna Thomson in Everybody's.

A POWERFUL PRAYER.

It Brought the Judge's Kind of Light to the Farmer.

"The late Judge Underhill," said F. D. Browne of the engineering department of the Southern Pacific. "was perhaps one of the greatest characters that ever entered the service of a railroad. It was his facile disposition that led to his being appointed right of way agent by the Southern Pacific. Underhill was all things to all men. The ribald called him a reckless blade, the learned called him one of the elect, and the good character declared that the pulpit would have had one of its brightest ornaments if he had only heard the call.

"He was the most successful right of way getter that the company ever had. Underhill was sent up against a tough proposition. There was a farmer whose land lay right in the path of the road, and he was coy about selling. Underhill was sent to see him. They were out driving when the farmer turned to Underhill and said:

"I have prayed all night for guidance in this matter, and I have not been given light."

"We will pray for light right now," said Underhill, and getting on his knees, he made a fervent prayer for the farmer to sell his land to the Southern Pacific.

"Awestruck, the farmer listened on his knees to the powerful invocation of the judge, and when Underhill resumed his seat in the buggy he said: "I have been given light, judge. I'll sell the land at the figure you name."—San Francisco Call.

The Chestnut Horse.

There is an ancient tale of a band of Arabs being pursued by their enemies which sums up their theory about a horse's color. Among the fleeing band was a man with unusually keen eyesight, and from time to time he would describe to his leader the horses ridden by the enemy.

"What manner of horses do they ride?"

"Black horses."

"Then there is no need of haste."

"At the noon halt the leader again asked, 'What manner of horses do they ride now?'"

"Bay horses."

"Then we must ride harder."

A few hours later the leader asked, "Are they horsed again?"

"They ride chestnuts."

"Then we ride for our lives."

Italy's Rest Days.

Under a law which went into effect Feb. 8, 1908, all industrial and commercial concerns throughout Italy must grant their employees a weekly rest of not less than twenty-four consecutive hours. It does not apply to public utilities, transportation lines or places of amusement. The general sense of the law is that Sunday shall be the rest day, but it is provided that freedom from work may be given on a day other than Sunday in the case of restaurants, photograph galleries, pharmacists, etc.

THE FIRST CHOICE.

It Was Right, Too, Because the Bravest Are the Tenderest.

Some years ago the excursion steamer returning from Alaska to Seattle dislocated its propeller in a dreary portion of the inner passage and came to a forced stop. For two days the vessel's engineers and machinists labored to repair the break, but without success. Two of the boats were manned and dispatched for aid to Victoria, 300 miles away. In the meantime it was discovered that the ship's stores were not abundant. Alarm bred in the minds of pessimistic passengers, and the contagion spread. Starvation might assail the vessel before help arrived.

A former California official took it on himself to reassure his timid companions, but his effort was not perfectly adapted to raise drooping spirits. In fact, his closing sentences but added to the gloom. "Let us be brave," he said. "If the worst comes and that dread necessity which in such misadventures has met others must be faced by us, let us remember that it is good to die that our friends may live. The one or more that may be sacrificed will be consoled by that thought."

There was a moment's silence, awful in its intensity, then a cheerful voice was heard. "You should be taken first, Governor Booth. You know the bravest are the tenderest." And even the terror stricken smiled once more.—San Francisco Argonaut.

TAPA CLOTH.

Attire of the Native Hawaiians Before Civilization Arrived.

The "paper mulberry" tree (Broussonetia papyrifera) is the source of the famous "tapa cloth" of the Polynesian Islands. This is a natural tissue and is derived from the inner bark and after being torn off in strips is scraped with shells and beaten with a mallet until it resembles a soft, flexible paper. The individual strips are united by overlapping the edges and beating the fibers together until large pieces of the tissue are formed.

It is said that before Hawaii was swept with the wave of civilization men and women were dressed in this natural bark cloth "tapa" or "kapa." The dress of the women consists of the "pa-u," or wrapper, composed of five thicknesses of tapa, about four yards in length by three in width, passed several times around the waist and extending below the knee. The dress of the men was the "malo," or girdle, about a foot in width and several yards long. A "kiket," or mantle, six feet square, was sometimes worn by both sexes. In former years these natural cloths were sometimes bleached to snowy whiteness or were dyed in colors and even printed or ornamented usually in checks or squares.—Exchange.

A Practical Demonstration.

"The best way to study nature is to go right to it."

"I suppose so."

"Oh, I know it. I was once disposed to doubt the industry of the ant, of which so much is said."

"And you learned better?"

"I did. I had a controversy with a naturalist over the question, and I thought I had him beaten until he gave me a demonstration."

"Took you out and showed you the ants at work, did he?"

"Well, not exactly that, but he took me along on one of his scientific expeditions and then maliciously pitched my tent over an ant hill. By the time I discovered what was happening the conviction was forced upon me that ants are really and truly industrious. They are small, but they made me move, and some of them went right along with us to the next camping place."—New York Times.

Under Examination.

"Do you know the prisoner well?" asked the attorney.

"Never knew him ill," replied the witness.

"Did you ever see the prisoner at the bar?"

"Took many a drink with him," was the reply.

"How long have you known this man?"

"From two feet up to five feet ten."

"Stand down," yelled the lawyer in disgust.

"Can't do it," said he. "I'll sit down or stand up."

"Officer, remove that man." And he did.

An Athletic Game.

The cobbler's shop in a small village was filled with old men and a young man, the young man being a good football player. Naturally the conversation drifted to the game of football.

The young man turned to one of the old men and asked him if he had ever played the game. The veteran thoughtfully blew a cloud of tobacco smoke from his lips and replied:

"Nay, lad. I've never played at none o' them athletic games 'cept dominos."—London Mail.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by Jackson Drug Store, Spagnoli, prop.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

THE COMPROMISE.

He Thought He Was Firm and Knew He Was Considerate.

The young man had entered that mysterious realm called matrimony, and as it was his first offense his father was handing him some paternal advice as to how he should treat the young wife.

"When you have any little differences of opinion, my son," he said to the boy, "if you can't persuade Margaret that you are right—and you probably can't, for they are all about alike—you must compromise. Be firm, yet be considerate and compromise."

"Yes, father," replied the son.

"I well remember a little experience," and a reminiscent expression came over the old man's face, "on the very threshold of the married life of your mother and myself, and it was the basis of all future disputes. It was this way: I wanted to spend the summer, our first vacation together, in Maine, and your mother wanted to go to Saratoga. That was thirty years ago. But I shall never forget how firm and yet how considerate I was with your mother and how we compromised, avoiding all dispute. We stayed from Saturday noon to Tuesday morning at Bar Harbor, and then we spent the rest of the summer at Saratoga. Yes, indeed," the old man added, with a sigh, "that's the only way to deal with a woman. You must be firm, but be willing to compromise a little once in awhile, as I have done with your mother."—New York Tribune.

TIGERS IN INDIA.

Strange Hindoo Beliefs Concerning the Man Eaters.

In India the traditions of folklore are numerous and strange. Among those pertaining to the tiger the following are the most peculiar: The uneducated Hindoo (and he is in the great majority) believes that the ghost of a man killed by a tiger rides on the head of the beast that slew him to warn him of danger and to guide him to new victims. It is declared that God provides for the tiger's daily wants to the amount of 1 rupee a day—that is to say, if the tiger kills a calf worth 6 rupees he will not be allowed another victim for five days.

Eating the flesh of a tiger is supposed to give one great courage and alertness, but the whiskers must first be singed off the beast or his spirit will haunt the man who fed off him, and he is likely to be turned into a tiger in the next world.

The following incident really occurred in a small Indian village in the interior: One of the villagers was unfortunately killed by a tiger. The police investigated the accidental death and rendered this verdict: "Pandu died of a tiger eating him. There was no other cause of death. Nothing was left of him save his bones and some fingers, which probably belonged to either the right or left hand."—Washington Star.

The World Went Round.

When Boggins senior on the occasion of his annual party was obliging his guests with "Tis Love That Makes the World Go Round," Master William Boggins seized the opportunity to retire for a few minutes behind the Japanese screen with his sire's half smoked cigar.

The applause subsiding, Master Boggins was observed by one of the company to be looking far from well. His face had taken on the hue of putty, and his eyes stood out like small hat pegs.

"Good gracious, Willie! What's the matter?" cried Mrs. Boggins in alarm. "I believe you've been smoking."

Willie shook his head.

"Tain't that," he declared untruthfully. "If it's true what father's been singing about, I—I re-ckon I'm in love!"—London Express.

Astronomical.

Some curious and interesting astronomical phenomena are recorded in the old Chinese annals which go back to a great antiquity. In 687 B. C. a night is mentioned without clouds and without stars. This may perhaps refer to a total eclipse of the sun, but if so the eclipse is not mentioned in the Chinese list of eclipses. In the year 141 B. C. it is stated that the sun and moon appeared of a deep red color during five days, a phenomenon which caused great terror among the people. In 74 B. C. it is related that a star as large as the moon appeared and was followed in its motion by several stars of ordinary size. This probably refers to an unusually large bolide, or fire ball. In 38 B. C. a fall of meteoric stones is recorded.

Got the Hard Stuff.

Jedson—Ha! Ha! Ha! Silas—What's the joke, Jedson? Jedson—Why, just as soon as the county went prohibition old Hiram Hardapple got buncoed. Silas—What was the game? Jedson—Why, Hiram got a circular that stated some firm up in town would send him a keg of hard stuff for $2. Hiram sent the $2 and smacked his lips. Silas—Gosh! And what came back? Jedson—Scrap iron, and they said if that wasn't hard enough they'd send him a keg of spikes at the usual rates.—Chicago News.

Sorry He Spoke.

"I was a fool when I married you." "But you're wiser now?" "You can bet I am." "Well, I've improved you a little, then, haven't I?"—Cleveland Leader.

He Was Trusty.

Mrs. Handout—I would like to know whether you are a trustworthy character. Dusty Stryper—Why, lady, at the last place I worked they called me a trusty.—St. Louis Republic.

Britain's Mysterious Pits—Cheap and Effective Rat-Killing—An Artificial Moon-Surface—Hearing Taught by Machine—Sterilizing Water by Light—Preservative Wood-Filling—Brain Control of Old Age—Tapeworms as Food—A Gnawing Goat.

A perennial puzzle in southern England is the origin of the so-called denholes that are so numerous in that locality. They were sunk in the chalk at some prehistoric time, and usually consist of a narrow shaft 75 or 100 feet deep ending in a chamber 30 to 50 feet in diameter, and 16 or 18 feet high, or a series of two or three or more chambers. They occur in groups, about 60 pits at Hangman's Wood, Essex, being contained in the space of a few acres. A late inquirer, Rev. J. W. Hayes, has investigated the character of the chalk deposits, and the ancient and modern uses of chalk, and he offers an explanation of the pits quite different from the theories that have been most favored. His view is that the denholes were simply quarries of chalk. The export of the material began in pre-Roman times, and it was natural to make the pits in groups where the strata supplied solid blocks and the location was convenient. Buckets, or baskets were used for raising the material taken out. It has been widely believed that the pits were made for granaries or places of refuge, or both, but strong evidence against these ideas is the fact that many worked-out pits contain water from later excavations.

After four years of vain effort to produce an epidemic among rats, M. de Kruff, of the agricultural bureau at Buitenzorg, Java, hit upon a new plan. Pouring half a teaspoonful of carbon disulphide into each occupied rat hole, he lighted the vapor, and the poisonous gases from the explosion almost instantly killed all rats. In 43 holes subsequently opened, 131 dead rats were found, two holes containing 10 rats each.

A typical lunar landscape has been imitated in a curious way by Paul Fuchs, a German experimenter. Iron ore slag from a smelting furnace was run off at 1100 deg. C., and cooled with water applied in various ways. Craters, mountains and plains were produced according to the conditions of the slag and the cooling.

Deaf-mutes are seldom absolutely unable to hear any sound, and by measuring their perception and properly cultivating their powers, many of them may be given a very useful degree of hearing. As the voice cannot be varied at will in quality, pitch and intensity, Dr. Marage, the French specialist, has developed a more accurate acoumeter, or measure of audition. Five sirens coupled together give the fundamental vibrations of the five vowels, and this apparatus gives sounds of constant quality that have a known pitch varying with the speed of the motor and a known intensity changing with the pressure of the air traversing the machine. With the ear at a distance of 20 inches, the intensity of sound is raised by increasing the air-pressure until the vibrations are perceived. The normal ear hears sound produced under a pressure of .1 millimetre, and if the pressure must be raised to 60 millimeters to make the sound heard, the sharpness of hearing is put down at 1-60, and so on. If there is no hearing at 200 millimeters, the test is continued with a tube from the siren to the ear. The perception varies for the different sounds, and a record is made in five divisions showing the sensitiveness of the hearing for each of the vowels. The ear's capacity being known, it is trained by the simple and exact vibrations of the vowel siren. In suitable cases, hearing develops rapidly, and results are reached in two months that would require several years,—with great exertion and fatigue,—to attain by voice teaching.

In a novel French water sterilizer, the water is led through spiral tubes surrounding a mercury vapor lamp, which itself is in the form of a long glass tube, illuminated by the passage of an electric current through the contained mercury-vapor. This light is rich in violet and ultra-violet rays. The bacteria of the water are killed by exposure to these rays, and any solid impurities may be removed by passing through an ordinary filter on its way to a sterilized container.

In the wood-preserving process of Capt. Malenkovic, an Austrian, solutions of salts of zinc or other metals are mixed with fluoride of sodium and forced into the wood, which is then heated to 100 deg. C. The insoluble fluorides thus formed keep timber indefinitely.

That old age is a mechanical effect of the slowing down of mental activity is a new medical explanation. When in a passive condition, aroused by no stimulation, the walls of each body cell are impermeable to solutions from within and without, and its crystalline excreta accumulate within, while no nutrition can enter from without. A stimulus from thought or the will causes the membrane to become permeable, when the waste of the cell is discharged and food material is admitted. This double activity induced by healthy thinking keeps the body machine in working order, and the arteries in normal condition. In middle life one's thinking is likely to have become settled down into fixed habits. A regular routine is followed, new fields are not entered, and there is mental stagnation. The cell waste accumulates, bringing the chronic alterations of the arteries so characteristic of age. To retard the coming of old age, suitable exercise, physical and mental, is necessary and effective to a considerable degree, and it has been active and kept a broad minded interest in affairs. The theory explains the influence of a hobby, which many men have declared has prolonged their lives.

The curious story has found its way into the text books that the tapeworms known as Ligulae, found in the body cavity of various fishes, are used in some parts of France and Italy as a delicacy called macaroni piatti or ver blanc. Though the statement was shown fifteen years ago to be erroneous, it is still cited as a marvelous fact. The fable has been again exposed by a late writer, Parona, who states positively that such a habit does not exist, and shows that the myth arose from the report by Rudolphi that the Ligulae are at times eaten with the tench they infest, being mistaken for the fat of the fish.

A "rodent goat" is the extraordinary type of new animal whose remains have been found in a cave of Majorca by Miss Dorothea Bate. The lower jaw has a single pair of incisor teeth, in place of the four pairs of incisors and the canines generally characteristic of the ruminants.

A Frank Estimate.

To many persons who are not actors the stage seems a delightful and fascinating place. In a book called "The Actress" Louise Closser Hale, herself an actress, tells some of her experiences with girls who envy her her profession. One day one of them from behind a counter in a shop said, "I should have went on the stage."

"She evidently wanted to talk, and I strove to be interested," says Miss Hale.

"But see how tired I am," I said to her. "I have to work very hard as it is, and I had to work much harder to gain what little recognition I have had."

"Oh, yes," she responded, complacently gazing at herself in a mirror. "But, you see, I have talent."

Dangers of Handwriting.

A young man is bringing an action against a graphologist in Paris for substantial damages. A pretty heiress, to whom he was engaged to be married, showed a specimen of his handwriting to the graphologist and asked for information. This is the reply she got: "If you should meet the man who wrote these lines upon your way through life avoid him. He is an egoist and a fool, has a bad temper and a despicable nature. The existence of the woman who has the misfortune to marry him will be a Calvary." The marriage has been broken off; hence the action.

Her Usual Remark.

"What did Mame say when her father gave her that new gold watch?" asked one gladsome girl.

"Oh, the same thing that she always says. She remarked that she was having a perfectly lovely time." — Exchange.

A Good Shot.

Man's chief wisdom consists in knowing his follies.—Rochefoucauld.

Paris Actresses.

It is a very usual thing for the Paris hostess to engage actresses to perform for her guests, and they, of course, mingle with these guests on fairly equal terms during the rest of the evening. But I know of very few Parisian society hostesses who would invite actresses to dinner. I am not sure, either, that the actresses would accept such an invitation if they got it, and I may add that it is an amusing lesson in "equality and fraternity" to hear Mme. la Marquise address an actress as "mademoiselle." The tone is exquisitely polite, but it would freeze you on the hottest day in summer. And yet numbers of Paris actresses are married women and, if unmarried, essentially respectable, but the word "actress" is a label, and Paris is a town of labels.—M. Raphael in London Strand Magazine.

Men and Women and Money.

Divide $500 between a boy and a girl and start them on a vacation with it, and the girl will go twice as far, see ten times as much and come home with new clothes and money in her purse. But the boy will be dead broke and have seen less. This is the difference: A girl when out sightseeing will live on crackers and soda water, and the boy will stuff himself with three big meals a day. The same difference is apparent when the boy and girl are grown. Ever know that father spends a lot on eating when traveling and doesn't get to see as much as mother, who makes every time she misses a meal take her a few miles farther?—Acheson Globe.

A Wonder of Science.

"I have been taking some moving pictures of life on your farm," said a photographer to an agriculturist. "Did you catch my laborers in motion?" asked the farmer. "I think so." "Ah, well, science is a wonderful thing!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

GOLD DISCOVERED

Get Ready for the Rush of '49

Never in the history of carnivals in Stockton has such spontaneous enthusiasm been aroused as the Historical Spectacle or reproduction of the golden days '49 to be held in the Gateway City, Oct. 26-30. The pioneers with the sons and daughters will unite on that festive occasion to live over again the olden day when youth and gold made the early history of the Golden state. Never in the history of carnival has there been a more appropriate reason for a mardigras than the 60th anniversary of the Rush of '49, the motive for the existence of the fair state of California, and Stockton is justly entitled to the honor of holding the celebration because the Mill City harbored the Argonauts on their way from the sea to the gold laden Sierras.

The advent of the fortune seeker will be typified by the arrival of sailing craft in the channel, the disembarking of the miners and their rush toward the hills. A monster parade of miners, following the arrival of the pony express will be the most unique of parades. The old prairie schooner with its yoke of oxen will be the chief feature of the second day's parade and all the episodes of the tedious drive across the desert sands and over the hostile mountains will be portrayed by Mexican and Indian features.

The periods following the discovery of gold, even to the present will be typified in detail. The visitor will see two North poles, Halley's comet, and the airship, in fact all the latest events that have stirred the world. The committees in charge have spared no expense to provide education and fun for the thousands who will imbibe the spirit of the days of old, the days of gold, and the days of '49.

The OLIVER Typewriter The Standard Visible Typewriter

The Oliver Typewriter is a money-maker, right from the word 'go!' So easy to run that beginners soon get in the "expert" class. Earn as you learn. Let the machine pay the 17 cents a day—and all above that is yours. Wherever you are, there's work to be done and money to be made by using the Oliver. The business world is calling for Oliver operators. There are not enough to supply the demand. Their salaries are considerably above those of many classes of workers.

An Oliver Typewriter in every Home

That is our battle cry today. We have made the Oliver supreme in usefulness and absolutely indispensable in business. Now comes the conquest of the home.

The simplicity and strength of the Oliver fit it for family use. It is becoming an important factor in the home training of young people. An educator as well as a money maker.

Our new selling plan puts the Oliver on the threshold of every home in America. Will you close the doors of your home or office on this remarkable Oliver opportunity?
